Now there is a team to give you the information and resources you need.

Most of us don't know what to do when we discover there are sex offenders living in our neighborhoods or near our workplaces. But there are practical steps we can all take to make our families, friends, and colleagues safer. In this free, 30 to 90 minute session, a panel of experts, including leaders from law enforcement, corrections, sex offender treatment, and victim advocacy will offer:

- ♦ Proven prevention tips you can implement immediately.
- ♦ An overview of the coordinated, multidisciplinary system for managing sex offenders in our communities.

We can provide similar training for teachers, volunteers and school staff which will provide prevention tips applicable to each of the different audiences.
